Current Situation as of 0239 hrs

There are no people on Parliament Hill and an average of 10-12 people walking in the Wellington/Elgin corridor. Our traffic perimeters remain unchanged and we continue to hold the area encompassed from Wellington/Bay to Rideau/Sussex and south to Albert St. We hold the area of Sussex and Mackenzie from Murray to Rideau. There are periphery filtering traffic points at SJAM/Booth; Rideau/Dalhousie and Colonel By/Daly.

Staffing Night shift

54 OPS officers - 0 on CET duty due to demand in the event area
30 OPP officers - (15 static units)
20 RCMP officers - (10 static units)
3 Cornwall officers
1 Kingston officer

Officers at Sussex/York and Sussex/Clarence have been replaced with Jersey barriers. US embassy was contacted and informed they could enter via George St

POU and COT stood down at 2200hrs

Night shift is out and all traffic points are covered with 3 QRT's available

PLT

- re-engaged the group at Rideau and Sussex and there is a possibility for movement provided they are afforded a sit down with a city representative.
- common theme of acknowledgement from public officials in some form will be enough for several groups to possibly leave
- significant negative response to PLT over Jerry can interdiction

Enforcement

- no detailed numbers at this time
- officers attempted to deal with a male bringing in fuel. The situation escalated very quickly and officers were surrounded with the crowd chanting, POU attended to assist and one male was arrested for the Jerry can.
- A number of reports back from officers who are finding the situation surrounding jerry cans is becoming quite a bit more volatile.
- protesters are also using various techniques to confuse as well as bait officers. Reports of people drinking out of jerry cans when challenged by police (water, not fuel in cans). Many simply carrying jerry cans around all the time.

The SCC is continuing to work on a sustainable staffing plan for continued operations.
